BEAUTIFUL AFTERNOON PARTY.

"The Breakers" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunt on Gem Rock avenue, was the scene of a very pretty and largely attended party, Saturday afternoon when Master Arthur Edmund Hunt assisted by his parents entertained his young friends, Miss Evelyn Linton and Miss Eileen Mc Mahon, beautifully costumed as Spanish girls danced the Tarantella to enthusiastic applause. Miss Mary Carr, the well known young Brookline dancer, was charming in her graceful dancing, also in readings.

Miss Peggy Lyons sang "A Baby's Prayer at Twilight" very sweetly, and Martin Walsh singing "The Star Spangled Banner," assisted by the entire assembly, brought the festivities to a close to the accompaniment of waving flags. Mrs. John Minton and the Misses Grace Minton and Beatrice Ryan contributed greatly to the occasion by their piano playing and Mrs. Minton has the happy faculty of choosing just the songs the children know best and like to sing. Among those assisting Mrs. Hunt in giving the children a good time were: Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Long, Mr. E. Corey, Mrs. Bernard McMahon, Mrs. M. J. Linton, Mrs. Timothy McCarthy, Mrs. Cornell, Mrs. Southern and Mrs. M. J. O'Connor, Miss Marion Linton, Miss Helen Linton, Miss Betty Murphy, Miss Peggy Lyons and Miss Margaret Bailey.

Children who attended were:

Ruth Le Bris, Ralph Le Bris, Edward Oara, Alice Long, Doris Long, Ellen Long, Constance Sears, Geraldine Macart, John Gifford, Irma Burbank, Kenneth Buchanan, James Russell, Robert Kelley, Frank Mullen, Marie Reynolds, Isabelle Magnien, Mary O'Rourke, Arthur Hunt, Margaret Southern, Jean McCarthy, Victor Carr, Paul McMahon, Martin Walsh, John Walsh, Charles Ellen O'Hara, Leola Morrison, Eunice McCarthy, Anna Derrer, Edith Linton, Alice Linton, Eddie O'Dowd, Jack O'Dowd, James O'Dowd, Eileen McMahon, Ursula McMahon, Justin McMahon, Gertrude McCarthy, Evelyn Linton, Albert Sullivan, Thomas Sullivan, John Sullivan, James Bacon, Mary Bacon, William Bacon, Rita Hatch, Madge Smith, Arthur Hatch, Mary Carr, Madeline Lamphier, Mary Lamphier, Richard Lamphier, Josephine Lamphier, Timothy Lamphier, Hugh Giblin, Paul Giblin, May Giblin, Gertrude Fitzgerald, Pauline Ober, Thomas Minton, John Minton, Dina Deagan, Helen Collins, John Collins, Mary Cornell, Mary O'Neill, Paul Maguire, John Maguire.

A very pretty feature of the afternoon were the picture groups formed upon the rocks which were "snapped" by Mr. Corey and Mr. Hunt, who were prodigious workers in making every one have a good time. The children's party has become an annual event which is looked forward to by all and Mr. and Mrs. Hunt's beautiful estate on the rocky point with its attractive scenery lends itself beautifully to the affair. One little episode of the afternoon was when little Arthur, four year old last, picked out a beautiful fancy cap, and came over to where the writer sat, and presented it to her saying, "You haven't any cap, I want you to have this one." He said in passing, all the children had been presented with caps. As the writer has on several occasions played with Arthur, she felt doubly complimented by his gift. Arthur, he picked out one becoming to my "style of beauty" both as to shape and color. Arthur is a winner and is bound to be successful. We opine that his parents are back of given him by his parents is back of him.

NEWS OF OUR BOYS

Frank P. Sibley, writing in the Sunday Globe regarding the New England men in the Marne battle has the following of interest locally:

"The counter-attack turned out to be a good deal of a Hull, Hingham and Clinton festivity. As Lieut. Price went forward the Boches were working on organizing their position. They had already set up a machine gun in the railroad station and another one at a street corner in Vaux. They had taken to the railroad station only when covered as they came down the hill. "Luckily, their advance had progressed so far before they were fired on that one company got a fine flank fire on them. This alone would have stopped the progress of the Germans. But to get them back to where they belonged needed a counter-attack.

"This was organized, of course, in groups. In one of them Douglas Ross of Hull had with him Arthur G. Irwin of Hull, son of John Irwin, the old baseball scout.

"They saw a machine gun set up at a corner, and two men by it. Apparently wanting to get according to the program taught him in the training period, Ross sent Irwin back to get some bombs. It was Irwin's slight wound, who told the story afterwards in the dressing station.

"Ross said it was the simplest thing in the world. While waiting for Irwin he simply shot one of the Boches. The man's comrade stooped over him and Ross ran up to them. Then the wounded Boche saw him and ran, and Ross shot him too, and captured the machine gun.

"For the rest of that merry morning, Lieut. Price says Ross pranced through Irwin like a boy at a picnic. He ripped his breeches half the length of his leg, but he couldn't tell me how he did it.

"He was in the group that tackled the railroad station. They ran up on two sides of it and tossed grenades up over the top of the walls to explode inside. There was no roof, and they had to keep out of the range at the front and back.

with an automatic rifle, climbed up on the railroad line where he got a good view of both ends of the rail road station. He was dressed in the ridiculous looking but very comforting gas proof olivine, with a hood and his helmet was perched on top for the Boche snipers on the hill, and their bullets kept whizzing round him but they never touched him.

"As the grenades exploded inside the railroad station, one or two Boches ran out and were run for it. Then Hall's automatic rifle would remark briefly, 'pup-pup-pup' and the Boches would fall. It was no place to make prisoners, and none were made there.

"Still further to our front was the row of shell holes that represent our front line. Lieut. Price began extending to the left, and Reginald Bates of Clinton, with James Russell of Hingham and Corp. Christopher Sullivan of Worcester, were sent around to the left of a big shell crater in which was a group of very lively Boches.

"Arthur Irwin of Hull and Francis Krans of Hingham were sent to the right of the hole, and Reginald Bates of Hingham the son of the West Corner policeman was told off with an automatic rifle to 'keep their heads down.' Whenever he saw a helmet top he fired at it, and Mister Boche promptly ducked again.

"The party moved up on the hole in little runs, one man going up a few yards, and then dropping, and then another repeating the maneuver. Bates kept advancing, with his automatic rifle at the shoulder.

"Finally Bates, who is an expert grenade thrower, helped by tossing lemons at the shell hole with Lieut. Price for observer.

"Thirty varied B' the Lieutenant would say and Chris would lay one on the brink of the shell crater. 'A little longer!' and the next heave would land on the farther lip.

"Finally Bates though he heard some one say, 'Kamerad!' He dropped his heavy automatic, grabbed a rifle from somebody and ran up the rest of the way.

"The whole party closed in on ten frightened Germans, with their hands up, who were only too glad to toss off the heavy helmets, put on the cocky little fatigue caps, come out of the hole, be searched for weapons and behave. The first thing a German soldier does when he is taken is to throw away his helmet. It is as if he felt he was done with the war and glad of it!"

LIBERTY LOAN.

Within a few days, the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee of New England will begin to distribute thousands of "tithing-boxes." One or more will be placed in every home, so that nickels and dimes may be saved for the first payment toward one of the new Liberty Bonds which are to be issued soon. The boxes are decorated with the flag colors—red, white and blue—and bear several inscriptions, among which are, "Be prepared to buy your bond." "Watch out for the nickel, least the dollar be lacking." "To make the first payment, to show you're not slacking."

A card showing the amount of interest which will be realized if a $10 bond is purchased and kept until maturity, will be given with each box, and children and young people who have been earning money during the summer vacation will have the opportunity to invest part of it with absolute safety. Women will be urged to pay for their bonds from weekly or monthly savings as they go along, rather than to draw from money saved previously. Self denial and economy can roll up a tremendous total—and every loyal, patriotic person will help roll.

THE COLLECTION of telephone bills that remain unpaid after the reasonable specified date is—

WASTEFUL—Because it consumes in work that should be unnecessary, time, effort and expense that might be better devoted to the enormous amount of necessary work that wartime conditions demand.

EXTRAVAGANT—Because it lavishes upon work that should be unnecessary, the time, the effort, the expense, that might otherwise be concentrated on the important business of keeping the nation's war-time telephone service up to peace-time standards.

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS can make a large part of this collection work unnecessary, just by paying their telephone bills within reasonable time.

WOULD EFFECT BIG SAVING

Money Could Be Turned Into Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps, and Labor Into Essential Industries.

By MORTIMER L. SCHIFF.

So much has been said and written in recent months on the subject of thrift, that it must by this time be the self-evident fact that unless the strictest economy is practiced by the people of this country, the enormous sums and the mass of goods to which the war requires cannot be forthcoming.
The most important contribution which the civilian population can make towards the winning of the war is to so order its domestic life as to prevent waste and thus make available for military purposes the goods and labor which would otherwise be dissipated in production for unnecessary purposes. Not only must the spending of money for luxuries be discouraged, but even so-called necessities must be used as sparingly as possible. It is only in that way that the growing need of our army and navy can be met.

The amount which the individual can thus contribute may seem small,
but if all pursue such a course conscientiously, the resultant saving is enormous. Surely it is due to our brave boys at the front that our military operations be not hampered by a lack of supplies due to production at home being diverted into non-essential channels. It must always be borne in mind and cannot be stated too often,
that doing without something results in a double advantage to the government. The money thus saved is made available for the purchase of Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps and in addition a corresponding amount of labor and goods is released for war purposes.

To illustrate by a concrete example, if a man does not buy a new overcoat, but makes his old one do for another season, he not only can place at the disposal of the government the money which he would have used for that purpose, but the manufacturer can use that cloth and the labor for making the overcoat in manufacturing a military or naval overcoat for one of our soldiers or sailors.

Thrift Will Help Win War.
Food and food conservation work in a similar way and everything which we as individuals do without means just so much more for our allies or for ourselves for war purposes. The goal of thrift cannot be reached too often or too strongly, not only for its direct bearing on the war, but also for its effect on the future of this country. We have been so blessed with natural resources and facilities for production, that we have been an extravagant people, and it is certain to be of incalculable advantage if we learn the value of saving. We have been extravagant not only in the expenditure of money, but also in what is even more important, in the use of our raw material and of our land. Intensive farming and full use of buying products are examples of this kind of thrift, which if intelligently practiced will tremendously increase our production.

Saving to be effective must be systematic and not haphazard in character. The greatest advantage of War Savings associations or the purchase of Liberty bonds on the installment plan is that they require the setting aside of a definite sum each week or each month and the making of the domestic budget accordingly. And the remainder of the money thus set aside is saved and invested in the premier security of the world, in the obligation of the United States of America.

Frugality Great Asset.

The problems of peace are going to be no less serious than those of war, but we face them with confidence, if,
as a result of the habits we have acquired during war time, we shall have become a thrifty and economical people and a nation of savers. "Waste not, want not" is a true old saying,
but its application was never more important than now. France's greatest asset has been the thrift and frugality of her people, and we can do no better than to emulate her in this, as in so many other things. To do so each must do his or her share and by so doing divert production from non-essentials into essentials and make available the labor and goods needed for military purposes. In the same way, it is only by thrift and economy that we can speed up our production and make participation in the war more and more effective.

Try It Out, Ma.

"Ma," said five-year-old Willie to the cleanliness administrator of the household, "I believe I could be a better boy if you wouldn't wash me so much."

"What has washing to do with your behavior?"

"Well, ma, you know that after you wash your hair, you say you can't do a thing with it."

Help That Weak Back!

IN THESE trying times the utmost effort of every man and every woman is necessary. But the man or woman who is handicapped with weak kidneys finds a good day's work impossible, and any work a burden. Lame, aching back; daily headaches, dizzy spells, urinary irregularities and that "all-worn-out" feeling are constant sources of distress and should have prompt attention.

Don't delay! Neglected kidney weakness too often leads to gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back to health. They should help you.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

A MASSACHUSETTS CASE.

Mrs. F. Lisotte, nurse, 21 Chestnut St., Holyoke, Mass., says: "I was in poor health for some time and suffered from backache and pains in my side. I was nervous and frequently had headaches. The action of my kidneys was irregular. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the first box did me a lot of good. I continued taking this medicine and the pains in my back ceased and my kidneys became normal."

Over six years later Mrs. Li-sotte said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has been a lasting one. I gladly confirm my former endorsement of this medicine."

A MAINE CASE.

Chester D. Ellis, 6 Maple St., Augusta, Me., says: "I suffered from a severe illness. It commenced with scarlet fever and kept me in bed for six long weeks.
I got better and was able to be up for awhile when, unfortunately, I took cold, which settled on my kidneys and brought on a severe attack of backache and trouble with the kidney secretions.
The secretions were painful in passage, too. My back ached terribly and I had to go back to bed again. On the advice of a doctor,
I used Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine benefited me from the first and several boxes cured me."

Packers' Costs and Profits

How much do you think it costs—

1. To dress beef, cure hides, and prepare all the numerous by-products?
2. To cool the meat for two or three days before shipment?
3. To freight it to all parts of the country in special refrigerator cars, iced daily?
4. To carry it in hundreds of branch houses, each with its refrigerating plant?
5. And to deliver it to the retailer
—sweet and fresh—in less than two weeks after dressing?

Swift & Company did all this for you in 1917 at an expense of less than 2½ cents per pound of beef sold, including an average profit of ¼ of a cent a pound.

effect this cost and profit had on prices you paid for beefsteak.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss E. O. Kelly, 478 St. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

DIDN'T KNOW THE YOUNGSTER

Little Incident of the Draft That No Doubt Had Its Counterpart in Many Places.

A frail little chap he was, so young and boyish for all his one-and-twenty years, writes Gordon Snow in the Atlantic. There was that about him which spoke of knickerbockers and romping childhood laid aside but yesterday. I did not know Joe. He had passed through the mill of the draft as one of the many; but we met for a brief 20 seconds one fine spring night at the station, just as the train was taking him away; and while memory lives, I shall remember Joe. He looked down at me from a car window, and as he said good-by there was a twinkle in his eye as if he was amused that I did not know him. "Say good-by to Mary Jane for me," he called as the train moved out. "Who are you?" I cried, springing alongside the moving car. "Ha!" he laughed. "I'm the grocer's boy. Every day I come to your back door. Mary Jane knows me and so does the missus. Say good-by to both of them for me."

The train clicked away into the night. I turned back, wondering a lump. It so befalls that the light of my household is a little two-year-old, and her name is Mary Jane.

HERE IS A REAL FLYING FISH OF THE AIR

This Nieuport airplane can rightly be called "the flying fish," judging from the manner in which it is decorated. Its American pilot is standing alongside of his machine, somewhere in France.

PESSIMIST IN PARIS IS 'SIREN'

Gloomy Ones Are Named for the Unwelcome Air Raid Signal.

OPTIMIST IS A "BERLOQUE"

People Have Joyous Time While Waiting in Subway Stations—Crap Game Holds Interest of the Crowd.

Paris—Two more words have been added to that very growing dictionary of war words. In Paris these two words have achieved a new significance. Pessimists are now known as "sirens" and optimists are "berloques." The significance is self-explanatory to those who have experienced an air raid in Paris. Many during the screeching, wailing, banshee-like wail of the alarm giving siren more than the actual danger from the raiders, while the "berloque," that lively little bugle call telling that all danger is past and that one may rest safely in one's bed, is indeed a friend welcome as any optimist.

A Paris bookkeeper who suddenly left the city when the raids over the capital became too frequent and went to Nantes has been sued by his employer for $90 damage for leaving without notice. The case, not the only one of its kind in the French courts today, is attracting attention. The bookkeeper's explanation was that his nerves were upset by the bombs and shells and that he thought himself justified in getting out of danger. The court held that a bombardment by airplanes and long-range guns could not be considered a sufficient reason for the breach of contract and gave judgment for the amount named.

The darkened streets of Paris have caused many persons to roam around town after returning from the theatre or a visit because of the difficulty of finding the streets and house numbers. An attempt to improve this condition is to be made soon by placing luminous numbers traced in little buttons in mirrors which reflect and magnify the smallest glimmer of light on the houses of the city.

One would think upon descending to one of the large and centrally located underground railway stations which are used as shelters that a solace was in progress instead of an air raid.

This is what the correspondent saw one evening during a raid when he was obliged to seek cover in one of the subway stations.

In one corner a violin, accompanied by two guitars, was doing out a tune to which a "squadron" of youthful aviators were walking around, their partners being a group of pretty damozels who had hurriedly left a neighboring

DIES LIKE A COWARD

Ex-Czar Wilts at Death; Propped to Post.

Collapses When He Faces the Firing Squad—German Paper Gives Account of Execution.

Amsterdam—With two hours given him to prepare for the end, Nicholas Romanoff, former Russian emperor, was taken out by his executioners in a state of such collapse that it was necessary to prop him against a post, says the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin, which claims to have received from a high Russian personage an account of the emperor's last hours. Nicholas was awakened at five o'clock on the morning of the day of his execution by a patrol of a commissioned officer and six men. He was told to dress and was then taken to a room where the decision of the soviet council was communicated to him. He was informed the execution would be carried out in two hours. The former emperor, it is added, received the announcement of the sentence of death with great calmness, but when he returned to his bedroom he collapsed in a chair. After a few minutes he asked for a priest, with whom he was allowed to remain unattended. Subsequently he wrote several letters.

When the escort arrived to take him to the place of execution Nicholas attempted to rise from his chair, but was not able. The priest and a soldier were obliged to help him get to his feet. The emperor's man descended the stairs with difficulty and once he fell down.

As he was unable to stand without support when the place of execution was reached, he was propped against a post. He raised his hands and seemed to be trying to speak, but the rifles spoke and he fell dead.

With few exceptions, the war department announcement says, the projects are permanent structures of concrete, brick and steel. The building is being done under the supervision of the construction division of the army.

Warehouses have been completed at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Hoboken, Jeffersonville, Ind.; Port Newark, N. J.; Americus, Ga.; Chicago, Dayton, O.; Richmond, Va.; San Antonio, and Middleton, Pa. ## VILLA'S STEPSON JOINS UNITED STATES CAVALRY

Manchester, N. H.—William Cerco, aged nineteen, who says he is a stepson of Villa, the notorious Mexican bandit, has enlisted in the United States cavalry here.

Cerco says that three years ago, during the border uprising, Villa shot his father and married his mother. Cerco came north with the New Hampshire troops when they returned from duty on the border.

He says that he likes the United States so well that he has decided it is worth fighting for anywhere and was very anxious to know when he could get "over there."

BEE STINGS KILL QUICKLY

Aged Man Succumbs in Ten Minutes After Being Wounded in Wrist.

Philadelphia—Ten minutes after he had been stung on both wrists by bees, Clarence L. Hume, sixty-six years old, a resident of Santa Ana, Cal., died.

The bees' stings acted as a violent poison, physicians stated, probably because of Hume's unusual physical condition. Hume was stung by the bees when he attempted to destroy a hive close to his home.

Physicians, when told of the peculiar case, stated that there was a probability that the poison injected by the bees struck an artery and was immediately conveyed to the heart, causing death. It was also noted that the bees' stings may have acted as a violent poison because of an unusual physical condition.

The physicians said that so sudden a death from bees' stings was very unusual.

Through the courtesy and kindness of Mr. Hugh Bancroft, one of our summer residents, who is actively interested in making a success of the concert for the Cohasset Branch of the American Fund for the French Wounded, the Cohasset Correspondent has been provided with reserved seat tickets for that concert on Thursday evening. This is a favor we appreciate greatly, and health and weather permitting she will attend.

The write-up of the concert and tableaux will appear in our next issue.

Miss Hannah Sherman spent Sunday in East Bridgewater as the guest of her grandchildren.

The ball game between the State Guard Co. G of Cohasset and State Guard Co. E of Boston resulted in a score of 12 to 4 in favor of Co. E. After the game the guests were entertained at the Yacht Clubhouse, motor boating and swimming being enjoyed after which a delicious fish chowder was served on Person Beach, said chowder being made by George Tower, John McEllan, Joseph A. In these days of blatant blowing of horns, it is sometimes necessary to blow one's own horn somewhat figuratively as well as literally, in order to make oneself heard above the din. The write-up of the "Cohasset Citizens" which a kind friend sends him from time to time. He also said that he believed that if the Cohasset boys were in the trenches, they would be going into battle with the horn of the "Cohasset Citizen" he believed it would cheer them up. Such words as these sound good to the news because of two invalids in her family and multitudinous other duties, realize that her column is not what she would make it if she had an opportunity to get out among people more. Therefore she is going to ask not as a favor to herself but in order that our boys in France, on battlefields in the North Sea, on transports, at Camp Devens, at Camp Wadsworth, Spartenburg, S. C., and at many other places where the boys are and where the paper goes may be cheered and inspired by the news from home and the town which to them is the dearest on the map of the world, that all who can send in an interesting or newsworthy item from time to time will do so and thus bring the boys and the people in the town into closer bond greater knowledge of what is going on in the little burg they have left behind them than could be if dependent alone upon the C. C.'s rather limited scope for getting news.

The Citizen goes from the C. C.'s list alone from Maine to California.

Supply Sergt. Fred Roche and Miss Gertrude E. Ahern of Hull were united in marriage on last Saturday, August 17 at Spartenburg, S. C. where Sergt. Roche is stationed.

Mrs. Roche hoped to come to Cohasset on their honeymoon but Sergt. Roche was unable to get furlough just now.

Mrs. Roche is visiting in Conn. at present on her way home. She is employed in the Hull Electric Light plant as a stenographer and bookkeeper, a position she will retain while her husband is in the service. This marriage is the culmination of a friendship of many years' standing, and a few interesting facts about the bride and groom are the fact that they graduate in the same class from high school their birthdays come in the same month and the groom is one of twins and the bride is ditto.

Congratulations and best wishes to them. Mrs. James Brown (nee Sybil Roche) of Springfield, Conn., with children is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Roche.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in real estate, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

Many Hingham people have been ill, and in several cases the water has been the cause.

Miss Mildred Burr gave a family party to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bickford on the 10th anniversary of their wedding, just the immediate families were present.

"FRIENDLY ENEMIES"

No play of recent years has scored the instantaneous and sensational success of "Friendly Enemies," the timely American drama which is now playing to crowded houses at the Hudson Theatre, New York, and the H. Woods' Theatre, Chicago, and which Mr. Woods will offer at the Plymouth Theatre next Monday, August 26th, with Lew Fields and a special Boston company, which will include Charles Wininger, so well remembered for his work in the Cohasset Revue for the past two seasons.

On the occasion of the play's premier at the National Theatre, Washington, last May, President Wilson rose in his box at the end of the second act and publicly endorsed Friendly Enemies as follows:

"As that I can say has already been said most admirably in this beautiful play, all the sentiments I could express have been admirably represented—sentiments that I hope will soon grip the world."

Supplementing the endorsement bestowed upon the play by President Wilson in Washington, Admiral William C. Brast, Surgeon General of the U. S. Navy, after the second act of this play in Chicago, said, "This, indeed, a great play. Take the lesson it teaches home to yourselves and you will feel better for having seen it. Every man, woman and child in America should see it."

"Friendly Enemies" is a play for the Nation. It is a comedy drama in three acts by Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman, dealing with the theme of vital importance to Americans today. It is replete with comedy and pathos, with humor and pathos.

WILLIAMS OF BROCKTON,

Candidate for Nomination for Councillor of First District.

Considerable interest is manifest throughout the South Shore in the candidacy of Councillor of the First District, which will be voted upon at the State Primary, September 24.

It will be recalled that Mr. Williams was a candidate for this position a year ago but withdrew at that time and the Hon. David L. Parker of New Bedford, seeking renomination and re-election for the fourth term as Councillor, was returned by a most substantial endorsement. After the election in November Mr. Williams publicly announced that he should be a candidate this year. He is now waging a lively campaign for the office.

CALL FOR WOMEN.

From the government comes the call for 25,000 young women to join the United States Student Nurse Reserve and hold themselves in readiness to train for service as nurses.

Age—The call is for women between the age of nineteen and thirty-five.

Qualifications—Intelligent, responsible women of good education and sound health are wanted—the pick of the country. A college education is a valuable asset, and many bachelors will give credit for it. Credit will also be given for a special scientific equipment or for preliminary training in nursing, such as that given in special courses now being conducted by various colleges and schools. Some schools, on the other hand do not even require a full high-school education.

Enrollment—Women will be given an opportunity to enroll in the United States Student Nurse Reserve in any one of three ways:

(1) By engaging to hold themselves in readiness until April 1, 1919, to accept assignments to nurses' training schools. These women will be sent to the schools as fast as the vacancies occur. Those of superior qualifications will be given preference, and it is, of course, possible that not everyone who enrolls will be accepted.

(2) As desiring to become candidates for the Army Nursing School recently established by authority of the War Department, with branch schools in selected military hospitals.

(3) As engaging to hold themselves in readiness until April 1, 1919, to accept assignments to either a civilian training school or the Army Nursing school. Those who so enroll will be called where the first need arises. The Government hopes that a majority of those who enroll will thus put down their names for both.

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, the famous lecturer and suffragist, is the chairman of the Women's Committee Council of National Defense and her name among others including J. C. Gorges, Surgeon General U. S. Army, Rupert Blue, Surgeon General U. S. Public Health Service, appears on the Call for Women for Nurses. The enrollment began July 29. The young women who answer the call will be enrolled in the United States Student Nurse Reserve.

Commissioner of Mediation and Conciliation Board Tries EATONIC, the Wonderful Stomach Remedy,
and Endorses It.

Judge William L. Chambers, who tried EATONIC as a remedy for loss of appetite and indigestion, is a Commissioner of the U. S. Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It is natural for him to express himself in guarded language, yet there is no hesitation in his pronounced opinion regarding the value of EATONIC. Writing from Washington, D. C., to the Esoteric Remedy Co., he says:

"EATONIC promotes appetite and aids digestion. I have used it with beneficial results."
Office workers and others who sit much are prone to dyspepsia, indigestion, bad breath, heartburn, poor appetite, bloating, and impairment of general health. It is a powerful, yet a safe, remedy. EATONIC will relieve you just as surely as it has benefited Judge Chambers and thousands of others.
Here's the secret: EATONIC does the one thing that the Stomach Remedy does. It is guaranteed to bring relief or you get your money back! Cost only a cent or two a day to use it. Get a box today from your druggist.

"There is, in fact, nothing in the things reported from Raymond which may not be paralleled and amplified a thousandfold from the Memorabilia of Swedenborg. His one work, 'Heaven and Hell,' is a storehouse of experience and observations which, whether we allow them to be genuine or not, are still of an extent and variety which far transcend all subsequent communications."

WHAT CAN WE + DO?

In its issue of July 8, 1918, the Red Cross Bulletin, issued at Washington, has the following account of the heroism of Red Cross nurses under fire:

"Private A. C. McLeod, the first American soldier to be wounded in France, was hurt when the Germans bombed a Red Cross hospital. He owes his life, he believes, to the Red Cross nurse who stuck by him in the shattered ward, and saw that he had prompt surgical attention. Two of the nurses were wounded by the same bomb that hurt Mr. McLeod, but the rest of the women, it was stated, were as cool as the men. Here is his own story in which it will be noticed the Red Cross nurse is given the principal place:

"Our hospital, a British-American one in Flanders, was bombed the night of September 4, last. I was working in this hospital, at which I had been assigned to the transportation section. The patients who could do so went to the bomb-proof cellar when the air raid opened, but there were a number of soldiers so badly wounded that they could not be moved. A number of nurses stayed with the soldiers, and I remained to help.

"Suddenly, a bomb made a direct hit and exploded nearby. It pretty nearly cleaned out the hospital. My legs were smashed to a pulp and I was writhing with pain. I won't describe the scene about me, for that would be too horrible. A nurse stayed by my side. She stuck to me and saw that I had prompt attention, and I probably owe my life to the immediate amputation which was ordered. The bombing of this hospital cost one nurse an eye, and another a foot. The rest of the nurses were as cool as the men. I can't say too much for the work of the American Red Cross in France."

Here is something from the Central Division Bulletin, published at Chicago, which needs to be considered just now:

Willing Workers Only.
"The growing seriousness of conditions respecting transportation, housing, etc., prompt the suggestion that the war countries of Europe are no place at present for persons without definite business of actual value to war or war relief work.

"The war council of the American Red Cross announces that the Red Cross commissions abroad do not desire any person to enter into foreign service except upon the explicit understanding that they shall be ready at any and all times to undertake any service and in any place, subject to the control and direction of the Red Cross officials under whom they are serving; and that, until further order by the war council, no person shall be sent to service with the Red Cross abroad for the purpose merely of inspecting the work, with the intention of using the results of such inspection for lecture or literary material."

White Silk Vails.

Pure silk vails in white, rather coarse mesh, come in large rectangular shape, to be thrown gracefully over the brim of summer saliors; the mesh, quite open over the face and hat, grows finer at the bottom of the veil, and a sprig of flower design is woven into this finer mesh. These white silk vails give a drossy effect to the sport or semi-sport costume, and they are very graceful, floating about in a summer breeze. Best of all, they may be washed in soap and water and dried in one's room overnight. If pinned out while damp over a pillow they require no ironing.

White Stock Favored.

For, although the colored organdie collar-and-cuff set prevails, it is not the only type of neckwear in vogue at present. Very different from it, but equally popular, perhaps, is the severe, high, white stock now in fashion. This stock is made from heavy material—usually linen or duck; it is un-comfortably high, and is fitted with two strips at the back which are to be brought around to the front, looped over once and held in place with a stick pin or snapper.

Equipped for Beach and Swimming

Little children take to the water like ducklings and ought to be given a chance to learn to swim, wherever their lot may be cast. This is an essential part of their education and might well be a part of public school instruction, as gymnastics are, since safety and assurance and pleasure in the water in after life depend upon it. Some youngsters learn so early that they hardly remember the time. Boys, who like to travel in gangs, shift for themselves if there is any water in walking distance that will give them a chance for water sports, and teach one another how to swim, often by the rote methods. Girls make fine swimmers, and certainly ought to be given a chance to learn at the earliest time possible.

Nearly all the bathing suits for girls under fourteen are made like the knitted wool suit shown in the picture. The body and the short and narrow but elastic skirt are in one piece—the body long-waisted. Separates, close-fitting trunks are attached to the body, a little below the normal waistline, and the suit buttons on one shoulder with two rather large bow buttons. Caps to be worn in the water are of rubber cloth, and made in light colors and fanciful ways. They serve to distinguish their little wearers' heads among many others when the beaches are crowded, as well as keep the hair dry.

Many of the suits are blue, with bands in white and in strong colors. Bright green, banded with white, and bright orange banded with black are favorites this season. With these usually there are rubber caps to match, made in many ways, so that watching mothers may easily keep an eye on the particular head that is her care.

Most youngsters are barefooted unless the beach is rocky, in which case soft cloth shoes protect them. Some suits are provided with a knitted ash, matching its border in color, and finished with yarn tassels, but it is merely for ornament and not needed. It is a pretty embellishment, however, that gives tone to the plain little suit, as may be gathered from the picture.

CAPT. MURPHY ENTERTAINS.

Capt. Edward E. Murphy, commanding officer at Fort Revere, Hull, has been entertaining his aunt, Mrs. William Rourke, of Fifth street, San Bernardino, California. A family reunion was held recently in honor of the visit of Mrs. Rourke, who was a former Scituate girl. Mr. James Murphy, father of Capt. Murphy, for 28 years was a member of the Coast Guard and a valued and respected resident of Hull, was at home for the day. Mrs. Rourke is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. William Cashman of West Quincy, who with her family motored over with Mrs. Rourke. Mr. Edward F. Murphy, public works commissioner of Boston, and family were present also, and an enjoyable day was spent at Capt. Murphy's military home on the government hill overlooking the bay and harbor.

Mrs. Rourke and the others were much interested to see the beautiful flag presented to Capt. Murphy for Fort Revere by the people of Allerton. Mrs. W. F. Sturges, wife of Mayor Sturges (now overseas) was instrumental in procuring the colors. It will be remembered that Mr. James Blake, vice-president of the Old Beacon Club, presented the flag in eloquent words, and that Capt. Murphy responded in kind. Rev. Frank Kingston, the silver-tongued preacher, offered prayer, which was an inspiration. The exercises and drills of the company which preceded the presentation, the little village park by the battalion from Fort Revere showed excellent training and will long be remembered by those who saw it as a matter of great gratification to all residents of Hull that the little town has a park on which to drill the men in these times of war, and also that a young man of the town, educated in its schools, has so conducted himself that he has the honor to command.

Mrs. Rourke's visit has been, madly planned by finding her relatives of such a type, efficient, patriotic, esteemed, and she says she will return to the Western Coast with praise of the Eastern. Mrs. Rourke is a sister to Messrs. James and Edward Murphy.

SOLDIERS IN FRANCE NEED MORE BOOKS.

The Paul Pratt Memorial Library has received today a request from the American Library Association's Headquarters in Washington for more books from this community for the men overseas.

The appeal from Washington states that new novels and good Western stories, whether new or old, are most needed. Books by Zane Grey, Rex Beach, Jack London, Ralph Connor, Owen Wister and O. Henry are very popular. The Public Library announces that it will receive and forward all suitable books that are turned in. It urges the friends of the soldiers and sailors, many of whom have already responded most generously, to give more books.

The communication received by the Library from the Washington Headquarters states that over 600,000 books have been sent overseas. The supply is nearly exhausted, and several hundred thousand more will be needed soon by the six dispatch offices which are now shipping books to France. The books are packed at these dispatch offices in strong cases, so built that they serve as a bookcase.

They go on the decks of transports, in cargo vessels and in naval vessels. Those that go on the decks of transports are open so that the men may have reading matter for use on the voyage. All these books are gathered together again, however, replaced in the cases and delivered to the proper officials in France.

In France, the books are distributed by an experienced Librarian, representative of the American Library Association. Most of them go to Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and Salvation Army huts, hospitals and canteens. Others go directly to chaplains and officers.

The School will open with a large corps of experienced teachers.

SEPTEMBER 26, 1918

The School House is one minute's walk from the Hingham Station. The building has been recently renovated, and is equipped with modern heating and plumbing, electricity and fire escape. At the rear of the building is a spacious playground.

The endowment makes it possible to offer the best educational opportunities at a minimum cost.

In September 1914, the Academy opened with an improved curriculum, and since that time the instruction has begun with a Kindergarten department and has extended through the Primary and Grammar School grades. The courses of education will now be extended through the first two years of the High School, it being the intention of the Trustees to extend the courses of the Academy up to the College entrance, in accordance with the Founder's purpose, as soon as this can be done with justice to the entire student body.

For catalogue and further information, address, MRS. MARITA M. BURDETT, Principal, Hingham, Mass.
